HONDO, MEDINA COUNTY, TEXAS, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1925. VOL. 40. No. 15

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

O. H. Miller, the Medina County Land Man, is establishing offices in the west wing of the Armstrong Hotel lobby. And on account of the increasing business in his line, will have associated with him, our ex-District Attorney, Mr. L. J. Brucks of Hondo. They will devote their time to the better interests of Medina County (The County with an unlimited future) and Mr. Miller says that the Million Dollar business already done, is just a beginning. Think of our standing in the Agricultural line, as proven by exhibit made by Mr. Merritt at Austin, Texas. Our Big Medina Lake Irrigation project, which lands are now going on the market and will make many good permanent homes. Also prospects for a similar project near us. The great resources we have on account of diversification, farming, cattle, sheep and goat raising. Then comes the Big Oil development. Everyone knows this can be made one of the biggest assets ever. Medina County is FIRST; let's all BOOST Medina County and watch Medina County grow—naturally we all grow.

Otto Lebold was over from his Seco ranch Saturday and paid this office a business call. Mr. Lebold says his oat crop is starting off beautifully and he is hopeful of making a good crop of this valuable grain.

"Approximately three inches of rain fell for the week, thus insuring the oat crop and winter grazing for cattle," Judge Haass said yesterday morning. "Rainfall during the downpour Thursday night," he continued, "totalled half of that for the week. This rainfall was general over the county and east of it." The judge does not like to hazard weather predictions, yet he believes this section will have a severe cold snap soon, due to continental warm weather this week.

Our readers are enjoying the great privilege of a series of articles on geology by J. H. Collard. This week's issue contains an answer to the oft repeated question—"HOW IS OIL MADE?" Those desiring a well located would do well to avail themselves of Dr. Collard's services while he is in our midst.

FILM SHOWS WHY WILLIAM CODY WAS NAMED BUFFALO BILL.

How Colonel William F. Cody acquired his title of "Buffalo Bill" has been the theme of many a story and the exact circumstances leading up to the conferring of this title are presented in the William Fox drama "The Iron Horse." The screen character of "Buffalo Bill" is played by George Wagner in the photoplay.

During the building of the first transcontinental railroad the workmen were on strike because they had no beef, when Col. Cody saved the situation by bringing in a dozen wagons loaded with buffaloes he had killed. From that day he was known as "Buffalo Bill," a title which he made renowned the world over and which is carved on his tomb at the summit of Pike's Peak. This buffalo hunting incident is accurately pictured in "The Iron Horse."

SOLDIERS of CIVILIZATION

"The Three Musketeers" achieve new heights of screen comedy in the William Fox photoplay The IRON HORSE A JOHN FORD PRODUCTION

FAMOUS STAGE COACHES USED IN "THE IRON HORSE"

Of the three famous old Rockaway Concord stage-coaches used by Director John Ford in "The Iron Horse," two have an early history that makes them a curiosity wherever they are shown.

One of the rugged old transportation prizes of the early '60's bears claim to fame as being owned and piloted by Hank Monk, most famous driver of his time and the identical carriage that transported Horace Greeley over the Sierra divide, when he made his maiden trip into the then unknown West.

The other claims the honor of having been held up more regularly by "Black Bart" notorious road agent of the '60's than any other single coach. Having for its duty the danger of transporting the Wells-Fargo coin boxes "Old Bullet-Holes" was the principal objective of the bad man's operations.

Many tales are told of the bandit "Black Bart." That he never molested any of the passengers it is recorded, his sole aim being to plunder the money box of the Wells-Fargo company, and perpetrating his bold thefts without the aid of arms.

These two old relics of the days portrayed in the gigantic Fox production are typical of all materials and "props" used by the director in getting the real atmosphere.

J. Farrell MacDonald, Madge Bellamy, George O'Brien, Gladys Huette, Cyril Chadwick, Will Walling and Fred Kohler play important roles in "The Iron Horse" to be seen at the COLONIAL Theatre which gives to the screen a dramatic gem with a theme second to none—the building of the first railroad that linked the East to a great country with the Great and then practically unknown West.

At a special meeting of the local lodge of Masons Monday night, besides conferring several degrees and enjoying a lunch, the lodge presented Rev. A. M. Foster with a Post Master's jewel. Rev. Foster completed his term as Master of the lodge last June and it was in appreciation of his services that he was presented with this token of esteem. It was also on the eve of his departure for his new conference appointment at Cotulla. Rev. Foster was very much pleased with this evidence of the lodge's esteem.

DISTRICT COURT.

District Court closed Thursday
after an eighteen days busy session. A number of cases, both criminal and civil, were disposed of while others were continued to a special session in January and to the regular April term. District Judge R. H. Burey has returned to Kerrville, Texas.

Jury Commissioners W. M. Wil-lamson, Edmund Keller and Joe Ney, before the court closed, filed with the court clerk the names of those to serve on the next grand jury; also a list of the petit jurors.
Other business transacted was the appointment of a finance committee which will check over transactions affecting the county and report in April. This committee is composed of Horace Bradley, Paul Reinhart
and J. J. Rihn.

Medina County's suit against John Farmer for adjudication of rights of parties to balance due on road contract was not finished, making it necessary to call a special term of court, January 11, at which time this and other civil cases will be tried.

Delay in calling in the grand jury
again for indictments of State vs.
Frank Ward, for theft of hogs and State vs. E. J. Harwick, for embezzlement has caused these two cases to be continued.

In the civil case of Joseph Cou-rand Co. vs. Victor Searcy, et. al.
and against Kaykendall and Shelton developing out of it resulted in compromise for the former and dismissal for the latter.

Due to plaintiff, Leonardo M.
Cortinas, being lax in prosecuting,
his suit for divorce against Josefa
M. de Cortinas, this case was dismissed.

Divorce was granted in the case of Mrs. Lela Redus vs. Lou E.
Redus.

pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. A. H.
Curdy, pastor of the Pine St.
Presbyterian Church, will press.

INFORMATION ABOUT GEOLOGY.

By J. H. Collard.

In my last article, the type made me say "North" of Devil's river. It should have been the "Mouth" of Devil's river.

Before explaining the Origin of oil, I wish to say some things about a fault. No word in oil nomenclature has been more ruthlessly overworked than the word "Fault". By telling men that the "Fault line runs right along here" many acres of oil leaseholdings have been sold, and millions of dollars have been gained. I do not think that it was used fraudulently, but I do believe that some at least have used it who didn't know what they were talking about. Now here is a fault—

This is exactly the topography of the Balcones Fault. BUT IT IS NOT "STRUCTURE" and it is under "STRUCTURE" that you must drill for oil. Now it is the business of the geologist to find structure, and when he does so all he can say is, that "here is the best place to drill for oil." He cannot say "You will infallibly find the oil!" he can only say, "you cannot expect to find oil if you drill off of Structure". In the oil fields of California they would laugh at any man drilling away from structure. It must be remembered that all of Texas was at one time the floor of the Gulf of Mexico. Florida did not exist; nearly all of Alabama, and Georgia were covered by it, and it stretched away to the North west beyond the Rocky Mountains, for they too were not in existence at that time. Now the rule is this, that if you find structure, and drill on it you have a chance for oil. Why then can not the geologist tell you plainly whether or not you will get the oil? Because there are a number of things that might make it impossible for him to so tell you.

1. There might be "Unconformity" down under the exposure he has found and nothing but the drill can tell you whether or not you will encounter this unconformity.

2. When you reach the oil horizon you may find that the oil has migrated thousands of years ago. Still only the drill can answer you and it costs money to sink a well. On the other hand, I respectfully submit: that if you find perfect structure, and drill on it; and if this structure has vertical continuity; and if there is no unconformity; and if it continues with depth to the oil horizon and you drill through a perfectly impervious body, into porosity—into any stratification that has voids in it so that it can contain and hold a fluid—you ought to find oil, and YOU WILL FIND IT UNLESS IT HAS MIGRATED because the Organisms are there from which the oil is made. Let us see what originates oil.

There have been about three general theories about the origin of oil, but without discussing these theories I risk nothing in saying that by the consensus of opinion of the leading geologists of the world today, it is agreed that oil has its origin in ORGANISMS. That is to say, it comes from the organic or living world, and not from the inorganic or dead world.

The United States geological department has estimated that we have in this country, forty billion tons of oil shale, such as the Severts have been using to produce oil for over a half a century. You may take a piece of this shale and subject it to any kind of test, by which you would test sand or rock for oil and it gives you no results. Not a trace of oil can be found, but if you properly construct a retort—with proper pressure and heat, you will produce oil and with it great many by products, almost equal to coal tar. Again taking up a piece of shale and subjecting it to a microscopic examination, you will find it filled with minute forms of animalcules or what we call "Foraminifera." Now nature has her own "retorts". The pressure at one thousand feet is estimated to be about eleven hundred pounds to the square inch, which would crack the atoms in anything. Heat increases one degree fahrenheit for every sixty five feet, and there is not a doubt, but that oil is being so produced right now, at oil horizons all over Texas. The inhabitants of the coasts of Maine have been rendering oil out of sharks for half a century. (Almost all over Medina County you find sharks teeth.) But you and I know that these people of New England did not get all the sharks. We know also that these sharks are but one of between five and six thousand different types of marine animal life, going in great schools of millions at a time; and that they have been living and dying for millions of years and their bodies deposited on the floor of the seas—not being in contact with Oxygen they can not rot—pickled by the brine of the sea, and when the sea recedes and leaves them they are oftentimes several thousand feet under the surface, PRODUCING OIL RIGHT NOW WHILE WE HESITATE or laugh at the discoveries of science.

I may at some future time discuss the relation of this subject to the oil possibilities of Medina County, which for obvious reasons would probably be improper at this time.

Pursuant to a call for a meeting of all who were interested in the organization of a Study Club, twenty-three women came out Monday afternoon and, after quite a bit of discussion, went into temporary organization with Miss Lena M. Stone as Chairman and Miss Willie Dee Fly as Secretary.

The following committees were appointed:

Constitution and By-Laws:

Mrs. Charles Monkhouse, Mrs. R. J. Noonan and Mrs. W. L. Brown.

Nominations:

Mrs. Henry Merriman, Mrs. Ed Cameron and Mrs. P. Jungman.

Course of Study:

Mrs. R. H. Hulsbeth, Mrs. Fletcher Davis, Mrs. F. S. Cockrell and Mrs. H. E. Haass.

CLASS MEETING.

The "Truth-Seekers" held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the home of Miss Helen Lacy. The devotional was led by Mrs. Ervin Freichs, then followed the business session with the president in charge. After the meeting closed several hours were spent in playing forty-two and at a late hour the hostesses served delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, saltines, potato chips, pickles, stuffed dates and macaroons and hot chocolate to the following members and guests: Mesdames Bailey Rogers, Selby Woods, Ervin Freichs, Willie Crow, Alfred Schweers, Misses Ina and Velma King, Gladys and Lucille Woods, Roberta Hulsbeth, Robbie Finch, Ruth Hightower, Pearl Fawcett and Carrie Sheperd.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. L. J. Brucks and Miss Lillian Brucks entertained the Bridge Club at their home last Wednesday afternoon, featuring Hallowe'en. Black cat tallies were matched by yellow and black cards for partners, and a series of lively games resulted in Miss Lorraine Heath carrying off a handsome pair of bronze book ends as first prize, Miss Willa Mae Gaines consoling herself with a gaily decorated Hallowe'en horn.

Brown-bread sandwiches, orange cups of fruit salad, saltines and hot tea regaled the guests at the end of the evening. Black and yellow candy filled baskets and yellow cosmos completed the color scheme. The next hostesses will be Mrs. A. N. Eby and Mrs. Jack Forgason.

HAD CLOSE CALL.

Monday about noon, Henry Crow started home from town and just as he reached the railroad track his engine died and the east bound passenger train, running some thirty minutes late, struck the car and knocked it off the track and almost up against the depot. The car was pretty badly damaged.

Mr. Crow saw the approaching train in time to jump out of his car before it was struck. This no doubt saved him from serious if not fatal injuries.

The train was too close to the car, however, when they discovered each other for the engineer to stop in time to avoid the accident.

FROM THE DEVINE NEWS

CHRISTILLES TRACT IN MEDINA TO BE DRILLED.

A. G. Keifer is moving a rig to the Christilles tract in Medina County south of Noonan, recently purchased by Johnson Brothers of Ardmore, Oklahoma, from Judge Whetless and will clean out the two old wells drilled there some years ago and seek to put them on production. If the production can be developed additional shallow wells will be drilled and the property further developed.

Two wells were drilled a few years ago on the tract, one to about 1,750 feet and the other to about 850 feet. The wells are about a mile south of the test recently drilled by Johnson Bros. on the Tschirhart tract just west of Noonan and they are about two miles west of the Jungman wells drilled recently by Sudill et. al. of Kentucky.

The oil of that territory is 32 gravity and oil men have for years been prophesying that some day one would come along and develop it.—Wednesday's Express.

Well, look here, I'll say I was cruel if you'll say I wasn't.

She—Very well, peach blossom, you weren't.

He—Then I'm sorry if I was.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired tenderly.

"They did more than that," she replied coldly. "Two of them recognized it."
